this volume is designed to bridge a gap in the current theoretical debate about the nature scope and relevance of postmodern perspectives in the humanist and social sciences in eastern and western europe while the debate has been reasonably comprehensive and certainly abrasive in western european and anglophone countries it has signally failed to incorporate the viewpoints of eastern european scholars and intellectuals even the current appropriation of mikhail bakhtin as a prophet of the postmodern is paradoxically a monologic engagement with his thought rather than a dialogic encounter of cultures doubtless different historical experiences ideology and social aspirations go some way to account for the weariness of eastern europe with postmodern challenge and its glad embrace by western scholars the volume comprises some fifteen essays by leading historians literary theorists and social scientists from western and eastern europe and america it has a threefold aim firstly to illuminate the distinctiveness of current western and eastern european theorizing about history and society secondly to reveal points of tension and disagreement and finally to open up a space for a meeting of seemingly incompatible worlds the meanings we choose is an engagement with responsible bible reading hebrew bible old testament and new testament texts for the past as well as for the present and future its stated perspectives are multi denominational christian but the implications of such readings go far beyond a specific confessional framework in the present political climate the aware responsible personal is meaningful for any community confessedly religious as well as otherwise while the articles collected in this volume broadly speaking can and perhaps should be compartmentalized as ideological criticism their significance for reading ideologies different from their own is more than considerable containing more than fifty essays by major literary scholars international postmodernism divides into four main sections the volume starts off with a section of eight introductory studies dealing with the subject from different points of view followed by a section that deals with postmodernism in other arts than literature while a third section discusses renovations of narrative genres and other strategies and devices in postmodernist writing the final and fourth section deals with the reception and processing of postmodernism in different parts of the world three important aspects add to the special character of international postmodernism the consistent distinction between postmodernity and postmodernism equal attention to the making and diffusion of postmodernism and the workings of literature in general and the focus on the text and the reader i e the reader s knowledge experience interests and competence as crucial factors in text interpretation this comprehensive study does not expressly focus on american postmodernism although american interpretations of postmodernism are a major point of reference the recognition that varying literary and cultural conditions in this world are bound to produce endless varieties of postmodernism made the editors hans bertens and douwe fokkema opt for the title international postmodernism this collection of original essays provides an intellectual social and historical background for the postmodern movement in the literary visual and performing arts in america today both creative expression and critical thought are examined in literature painting and sculpture dance music photography architecture theatre and film the author of each essay describes and analyzes the ways in which individuals become conscious of represent and ultimately assimilate changes in their respective art forms included in each essay is a synthesis of critical issues as well as a discussion of representative figures and their works also a broad bibliographic component supplements each essay including discussions of resource materials checklists and a comprehensive annotated bibliography in his introduction editor stanley trachtenberg provides an overview of postmodernism in addition the volume contains an appendix of related european and latin american expressions and a chronology of historical and cultural events and individual achievements come and read is a unique volume that both introduces numerous interpretive approaches to the bible and includes examples in action with contributions from top scholars in the field the book takes up three different passages throughout john s gospel john 1 1 18 john 10 and john 20 and sets four different approaches to each passage side by side the three selected texts move readers through the gospel story and represent the three major sub genres featured in the gospel john s prologue 1 1 18 is written in poetic style john 10 represents a major discourse and john 20 takes the form of dramatic narrative prose each section of the book includes readings on the focus passage from the same four interpretive perspectives intertextual sociocultural rhetorical and narrative these approaches are broadly conceived to showcase varieties present even within approaches and how these ways of reading are connected to and benefit from one another overall this book provides insight into current interpretive practices on the gospel of john and the rest of the bible it demonstrates how to use these methods effectively illustrating not only the value of using a variety of approaches for interpretation but also how methods impact the interpretations rendered this volume engages the cultural norms and theological convictions of ancient israel in the shadow of the egyptian babylonian and persian empires essays explore ancient near eastern historical contexts interpret prophetic narratives and poetry offer feminist materialist and postcolonial readings and more indispensable for scholars and students of the prophets bachelor thesis from the year 2011 in the subject english language and literature studies literature grade 1 0 university of passau language english abstract flaubert s parrot julian barnes s most acclaimed novel worldwide poses and playfully elaborates on questions about traditionalist understandings of history and conventional concepts of truth which are also frequently asked by postmodern theorists and philosophers how can we know the past can we ever do so on objective grounds are we not bound to socio culturally determined modes of representation that prevent us from thinking or writing about anything but representation does the past even exist outside of our systems of signification or is it merely the product of these systems in postmodern thought these kinds of questions are raised in the context of an increasing scepticism towards realist or modernist ontology and epistemology philosophers and writers such as jacques derrida michel foucault and later hayden white and keith jenkins testify to the assumption that history now appears to be just one more foundationless positioned expression in a world of foundationless positioned expressions jenkins 1997 6 stressing that there is an inescapable relativity in every representation or rather re interpretation of historical entities cf white 1997 392 however in this paper i will hope to show that despite it being a very hard and indeterminate act to follow barth 1980 66 history is not dead in barnes s novel and neither is the pursuit of its meaning in fact both remain subjects of a longing for truth and authenticity that is repeatedly re invented played with undermined and reinstalled rather than deconstructed in the course of fp s narrative i intend to divide my paper into two sections each of them further divided into several sub parts in section one i will at first provide a short compendium of postmodern philosophical theoretical assumptions on histo instead of summing up the various perspectives of scholars and the variety of ideas to which the term postmodernism has been assigned this text lets this diversity speak for itself by bringing together articles and essays on the impact of the postmodern temper on an eclectic range of subjects berger presents a few of the many ways different theorists have come to terms with postmodernism while examining manifestations of postmodernism in the culture of everyday life this is a wonderful volume powerfully written timely insightful and filled with major pieces the passion intellectual rigor and sense of history found here promises to shape this field in the decades to come this volume sets the agenda for the future norman k denzin university of illinois a beautifully crafted manuscript which re invigorates the rather stale debate between the traditionalists and the anti psychiatry schools of thought for all those working in mental health arenas the journeying through this text will be highly rewarding indeed stick with it mental health care this is a book which will appeal to those interested in theoretical debates rather than to practitioners who may find it heavy weather if they have not had the time or resources to engage with what are often quite difficult and often dense writings british journal of social work this book presents a clarity that is vivid this book would be a good place for psychiatrists to start british journal of psychiatry pathology and the postmodern explores the relationship between mental distress and social constructionism using new work from eminent scholars in the fields of sociology psychology and philosophy the authors address how specific cultural economic and historical forces converge in contemporary psychiatry and psychology how new syndromes subjectivities and identities are being constructed and deconstructed in technological culturally mediated and hyper reflexive contexts and what new critiques of positivism and new understandings of pathology seem viable given these still emerging scenarios building upon work in such areas as labelling theory feminist studies linguistics and post structuralism the twelve chapters engage the cultural historical and political conditions that should be implicated in our understanding of contemporary mental suffering this collection of essays brings together a number of contributions on lyotard's work made by philosophers educationalists and sociologists around the special focus of education their intent is to examine lyotard's notion of the postmodern condition and its relevance to education this study looks at the complex relationship between postmodernism and the fantastic in contemporary british fiction and shows that a new type of the fantastic arises in postmodernism arguing against interpretations that view postmodernism as inherently fantastic it seeks to define the postmodern fantastic as a narrative mode that is influenced by certain traits both of the traditional fantastic and of literary postmodernism but does not simply conflate both in the first theoretical part a number of theories of the fantastic and of postmodernism are used to set the fantastic apart from other non mimetic forms of literature and to create a model of the postmodern fantastic that postulates the totalisation of the fantastic in postmodernism in the second part of this study this model is applied to a number of contemporary british texts which are particularly susceptible to this form of the fantastic due to several characteristics such as their muted kind of postmodernism and their frequent construction of parallel worlds the analysis of these texts focuses on four thematic fields of the postmodern fantastic the figure of the other as defined by bernhard waldenfels time and history text and textuality and the development of the todorovian pure fantastic finally the question of the death of the fantastic in postmodernism is examined this is an important text it brings together critical reflections on the discipline s contribution in terms of theory practice and pedagogy and as such is equally as insightful and challenging as some of its recent predecessors eg brown et al 1996 brown and turley 1997 brown 1998 the book represents a useful point of departure for those setting off on their own critical journeys and thus it should be included on the reading lists of all those carrying out masters or doctoral research in marketing journal of marketing management this book provides a challenging and stimulating coverage of a broad range of key issues in contemporary marketing such as marketing philosophy marketing ethics the mar seminar paper from the year 2013 in the subject english language and literature studies literature grade 1 3 university of basel language english abstract during the course of this seminar paper i will show how o brien describes the vietnam war and its accompanying acoustic environment as a loud and chaotic cacophony where no clear boundaries and no easily identifiable enemy exist thereby and by the way in which o brien employs characteristics typical for postmodern fiction the novel can be seen as an exemplary postmodern representation of the vietnam war for the understanding and distinction of the terms postmodernism and postmodernity i will include a discussion of their characteristics the term postmodernist was originally used to describe a cultural trend that opposed the modernist style in art architecture and design it has come to be applied to a much wider range of philosophical and social science discourses concerned with the crisis of modernity the end of the assumptions overarching theories and meta narratives that have gained prominence since the enlightenment in this major statement on postmodernism an international and interdisciplinary cast of contributors assess the implications of this and the term's application in social and cultural theory is there a single definition of postmodernism or is it a catch all concept for quite different responses to the end of modernity how does the social and philosophical questioning of modernity relate to aesthetic theory and cultural change the postmodern condition is said to signify a world of ever multiplying signifying processes a hypertrophy of images a dissolution of established categories and identities and an ever increasing scepticism towards claims of truth meaning and value what are the implications of such fragmentations for theology feminism and marxism what indeed are postmodern politics did humanity find its limits in the confusion of tongues the tower of babel featuring both an introduction to and an interview with jean francois lyotard this unique volume originally published as a theory culture society double issue comprises the most lucid interrogation of and contribution to the most important intellectual movement of our time postmodernism and deconstruction have rapidly and soberly been defined redefined and thus assimilated by academics in the humanities whose operant muse seems for the most part to be the desire to progress from assistant to associate to full professor nonetheless these two recently developed concepts still contain the potential to disrupt clichéd and reified ways of reading and teaching in the postmodern university essays on the deconstruction of the humanities stanley fogel seeks to unearth and capitalize upon their destabilizing qualities his targets are university structures and practices the organization of the humanities the language and style of literary criticism and literary critics as well as propriety in the academy fogel also examines a number of texts which display a postmodern sensibility the book presents an account of the recent debates on the theological interpretation of scripture which considers whether the meaning of scripture should concern theologians and church leaders at all in review of the major theoretical approaches to culture the author argues that the structure of culture has been overemphasized and affect meaning neglected this approach to studying culture has as its basis the social construction of meaning and reality and emphasizes micro level processes
